District and County Conventions.
Two calls appear in this week's Chronicle for District and County Union Conventions to meet in Warren, on the 19th inst. These Conventions will both be of unflicient moment to justify extraordinary attention by the people. Acting in their primary capacity, the Union voters of this county will have an opportunity, in chosing delegates to represent them, to express their preferences for a candidate for the Presidency. We trust that pains will be taken to have good and reliable men immunumber, and it may be that we must fell up before we are must read.

The Union voters of the probate conventions will be called the city, which we still occupy, three companies of us in one still occupy, three companies of us in one time the city, which help the soldiers, and converge enlistments. Reader is not the bounty law right, which provides one hundred dollars for the brave and noble soldier who rallies to the defense of our Union?
